Business Buzz and Projects

► Development on the high-profile piece of land next to Qualicum Beach town hall could be starting soon. At Monday's (May 1) council meeting, Qualicum Beach council adopted the bylaw amendment for the Berwick Retirement Facility... council also authorized staff to issue a development permit... The Berwick facility is a 94-unit, multi-residential seniors' development at 120 First Ave. W. The building would include nine studio units, 72 one-bedroom units and 14 two-bedroom units. There would also be other amenities including a health and fitness room, bar, rooftop greenhouse and a games area. <http://www.pqbnews.com/news/berwick-qualicum-beach-gets-development-permit/>

► Nanaimo's old city hall annex will be torn down to make way for high-end rental housing. Cracey Holdings has won a development permit for a more than five-storey, 46-unit rental building at the corner of Franklyn and Wallace streets. It plans to demolish the former city hall annex this month to make way for the project, estimated at $12.5 million. <http://www.nanaimobulletin.com/news/former-nanaimo-city-hall-annex-to-be-torn-down-for-high-end-rental-housing/>
